Overview:

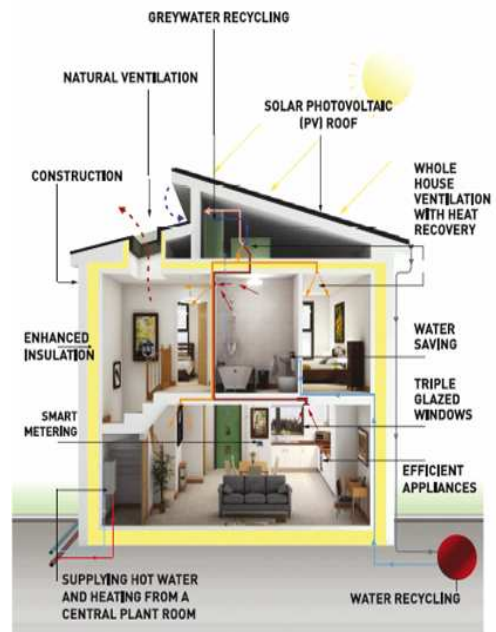

Charles Farley, UK National Development Director from Scottish & Southern Energy (SSE) is our guest speaker at September's Slough Property Forum.

SSE is leading the UK's first eco-homes project in Slough where it is building 10 zero carbon residential properties at Chalvey, Slough.

SSE believes that the project will assist them understand how householders respond and adapt and helping them evaluate tenant and systems performance post occupancy.

Benefit:

Attendees at this event will gain an overview of the UK's first Zero Carbon homes as well as gaining an insight into some of the energy solutions required for zero carbon homes as we move towards the low carbon future.
