Matthew Walters

Assistant Director (TMT)
EY-Parthenon

Matthew joined EY-Parthenon’s TMT Strategy Practice in September 2021, specialising in media and sport. He leads corporate strategy and commercial due diligence assignments for clients from - and investors in - the media and sports industries. He joined EY-P after four years at London-based boutique media and sports consultancy Oliver & Ohlbaum, and also previously worked at Decipher (a boutique media strategy consultancy focusing primarily on content and consumer tech). He began his career at Ofcom, the UK communications regulator, where – after completing its two-year graduate scheme – he specialised in policy relating to the digital economy (primarily online content regulation). He has a BA (Joint Hons) in English Literature and History from St Chad’s College, University of Durham.
