THE FUTURE COMPETITIVENESS OF THE THAMES VALLEY

Friday 29th September 2023

(Lord) Gavin Barwell acts as a Senior Advisor on UK politics and geopolitics. As Downing Street Chief of Staff during the last two years of Theresa May's premiership, Gavin was at the heart of government during one of the most turbulent periods in British political history.

He has held a number of other roles during his political career including Chief Operating Officer of the Conservative Party, MP for Central Croydon, senior government whip, Minister of Housing and Minister for London. Together these have given him a unique insight into British politics, as well as contacts in a number of other governments. Gavin provides pertinent analysis of UK politics and geopolitics from key trends, to the war in Ukraine and tensions with China.

He shares distinctive and highly relevant insights into political risks and opportunities that boards and C-suite executives should be considering, including sector specific challenges and opportunities.
