

Windsor Debates

BUSINESS AND POLITICS

Friday 27th September 2024

Elena B. Spasova is the Dean of Henley Business School and Professor of International Business. She joined Henley Business School in 2009 with over ten years of corporate and consulting experience spanning from a Senior economist at a Central Bank, World Bank projects in post-war Bosnia to strategy consultancy work with corporations across Europe and North America.

Elena has held a number of leadership positions over the past ten years, advancing teaching and learning innovation. She has also led major programme and system change projects and most recently championed the launch of Future World of Work Institute and Learning and Innovation Hub at Henley.

Her research interests include strategic issues and challenges faced by organisations on an international scale, drivers of international competitiveness and performance and cross border expansion and operations.

PROF. ELENA B. SPASOVA

Dean

Henley Business School, University of Reading

