Kate is the Managing Director of The KWP Ltd, a company which provides strategic and practical leadership support in all things education and skills.

She was a senior manager for over 20 years and a College CEO and Principal for 12 years, latterly leading a complex and successful college merger that gained an Ofsted 'Good' judgement for its first inspection in 2020.

Since 2021 she has also been a national FE Adviser working for the Department for Education.

Her doctoral thesis examined the impact of GCSE retakes on 16–18-year-old vocational students.

She was born in Birmingham and moved south on a narrowboat in 1996 but now lives in Berkshire with three dogs, two children and a husband
