Siddharth Mukne contributions across trade, education, enterprise development, and community welfare reflect an enduring commitment to public service and international cooperation. His work continues to strengthen UK-India economic engagement while inspiring the next generation of entrepreneurs and leaders.

International Trade & Bilateral Relations: For more than a decade, Siddharth has advanced UK-India collaboration through strategic advisory support to businesses and academic institutions, including modest contributions to the FTA process. He has also established India Trade Desks across UK regions, including partnership Thames Valley Chamber of Commerce, aligning the expertise of TVCC, DBSIT (formerly DBT), the British Chambers of Commerce, and the High Commission of India to create a unified ecosystem for businesses exploring opportunities in India.

Enterprise Development & Mentorship: A committed mentor, Siddharth supports start-ups and SMEs through the UK Government initiatives, the King's Trust, local councils, and university incubators.

Industry-Academia Collaboration: He works closely with Brunel University London and Cambridge Judge Business School, to co-design experiential learning programmes that connect students, academics, and industry leaders for meaningful knowledge exchange.
